

A.R.E./Glad Helpers' International Prayer List

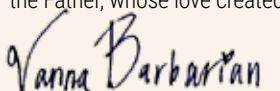

FEBRUARY 2025

Dear Prayer and Healing Friends,

Welcome to the season of love—a time we can all cherish. Much of the collective consciousness is aware of this spirit of love. Around 59 percent of the global population celebrates Valentine's Day, so over half of the world is making an effort to create the state of love! There are those who say, "One should not need a holiday or one day out of the year to show their love to someone else." Maybe so, but it is a time when the spirit of love overflows and we can attune to that spirit and resolve to take it with us and practice it every single day of the remaining year.

The spirit of love is not merely a box of chocolates, a bouquet of flowers, or a teddy bear, but rather it is a crystallization of the highest spirit. People of all kinds are celebrating with their friends, families, or beloveds. Do something nice for yourself. Run yourself a hot bath, treat yourself to a special dinner, or give yourself a gift you've been wanting.

For this holiday, remember to spend time with yourself, giving yourself the love you deserve to have all year round. Reach out to a shut-in, a neighbor, a coworker, a friend. Finally, give all the honor and praise to God the Father, whose love created the universe.

The Season of Love Savanna Barbarian

The Valentine's Day holiday can be a wonderful time to examine our emotions within ourselves and in our relationships with others. Today we see Valentine's Day mostly as a time for loving partners to express their love, but it did not become a romantic holiday until around the 14th century. Believed to have begun around the 5th century, the holiday's name comes from St. Valentine, a clergyman in the Roman Empire who ministered to persecuted Christians. He was buried on February 14. During the 8th century, the "Feast of Saint Valentine" was observed.

*

On March 15, 1939, a little past Valentine's Day, Mr. Cayce gave reading 281-40 to the Glad Helpers group, offering guidance and counsel.

"Know . . . ye have been chosen for a definite, purposeful work."

We each have a mission in life, and we continually seek to understand how we can best serve. It might feel like a never-ending road that we may never fully figure out, but it becomes our job to see the beauty in every moment. ". . . Each of you have had your fears, your doubts, your uprisings, your downsittings—yet in giving ye find rest and PEACE and comfort as He alone can give."* This quote reminds us of the necessity of faith in the Divine plan. How much of our time could be salvaged, how much of our mental stress could be spared if we just put our concerns in the Hands of the Creator?

February 2025 Affirmation

"Love, as thou lovest me, may I shed abroad to all whom I contact, that thy goodness, thy mercy, may abide ever with them."

Edgar Cayce reading 281-15

The Edgar Cayce readings emphasize the importance that those who are seeking help and healing through prayer actively participate in the prayer effort—praying for themselves and others on the list. This creates a cooperative, unified prayer effort. In the giving comes receiving.

AS HELP IS RECEIVED, REMEMBER TO THANK GOD, THE GIVER OF ALL GOOD AND PERFECT GIFTS.

Due to the growing number of monthly prayer requests, multiple requests for and from the same family member will be listed as (your name) "Jane Doe and Family," or "Jane Doe and Friends," or "Jane Doe and Family & Friends." We will pray for you, as the channel, as you pray for those on your personal prayer list, which is what Mr. Cayce instructed members of the original Prayer Group to do. Thank you for your understanding and assistance.

Here is an example of one of our A Search for God study groups at A.R.E. Headquarters doing just that. We were working through our weekly experiment-sharing (groups choose a "discipline" or "experiment" to help us apply the material we are studying within our daily lives.) Throughout Chapter 4 on "Faith," a long-time A.R.E. member was dealing with a housing challenge; she needed to find a new place to rent. Many group members tried to connect her to possible rentals to no avail. After about three weeks of searching, she came to the group and told us she had given up. She was losing hair, weight, and sanity trying to find a new place during the beach's busy summer season. She said, "I'll have to move home, out of state with family and put it in God's hands. If He wants me here, something will open up." Based on her situation, our group used her experience as our weekly discipline. We would "let go of the stressors or problems at hand and have faith that God would put it all into place." The following week, we were prepared to hear her report, not knowing if she would be staying or going. She told the group, "The first lead I had opened back up. The former tenant was unable to meet the requirements of the rental agreement. I'm staying!"

"Let that be then an incentive for each of you, in that love, in that strength, in that beauty of purpose which has been manifested. Let it then not be lost because of thy neglect, of thy sorrow . . . He has promised that all tears would be wiped away, and they ARE for those who wholly put their trust in Him."*

If we take hold of these promises, we will soon know that they are ours. "Be ye not weary, then, in well-doing; nor become negligent or unmindful of the little things that may bring to thy consciousness the spreading of the awareness of the Christ's love for each of you . . . He stands at the door of thy heart, of thy consciousness . . . 'Ask in my name, believing, and it shall be done unto thee.'"*

Let this holiday then be not solely about romance, but about spreading love that knows no bounds. Happy Valentine's Day to you and those you love, and may your love spread throughout your community.
